

Coordinated Vulnerability Disclosure Guidance

These pages provide some guidance on:

- What is vulnerability coordination, and why it is good for researchers, companies and the public – for more, see What is Vulnerability Coordination?
- An overview of coordination and disclosure process – for more, see Understanding the Coordination Process
- What to do if you are a new, first-time reporter, wishing to work with the CERT/CC – for more, see For Reporters of Vulnerabilities
- What to do if you are a new, first-time vendor, responding to a vulnerability report from CERT/CC – for more, see For Vendors and Distributors of Software

Please use links above or the navigation at the left to explore further.

We also recommend reading The CERT Guide to Coordinated Vulnerability Disclosure.